

Susie Taylor King was only thirteen years old when she liberated herself from slavery by fleeing to Union lines. She soon became the first black Army nurse and, using her freedom of speech and freedom of the press, a civil rights activist.